EXPLORE YOUR OPTIONS

IN THE SONY UNITED KINGDOM PENSION SCHEME

This pack is designed to help you explore your options in the Sony United Kingdom Pension Scheme. The enclosed booklet explains how you can access paid-for advice from WPSA. We have also attached to this letter a personal statement, including a retirement quotation as at 18 December 2020 and a current transfer value, so that you can consider all of your available options. You should also read the section about spouse's benefits on page 7, as any decision to transfer your benefits out of the Scheme will affect your spouse's entitlement to benefits on your death.

If you decide to transfer your benefits out of the Scheme, you and your dependants will no longer receive any benefits from the Scheme so please read the information provided carefully.

The benefits shown on the statement are based on the 'personal details' shown overleaf (information which is held by the Scheme administrator, Willis Towers Watson), and the law in force at the date your pension benefits are worked out. Please check the information below and let us know if any of your details are incorrect. If any of this information changes between now and your date of retirement, or if you have any benefits from any other pension provider, the figures on the attached statements may change.

There is greater flexibility available in how you access your pension benefits from a Defined Contribution (DC) arrangement than there is available within the Sony UK Pension Scheme. The enclosed booklet sets out your options in more detail. There are a number of factors to consider before transferring out of the Scheme, including the investment risk you will take on after retirement, and it is important you consider your options carefully and take independent financial advice.

If the cash equivalent value of your main Scheme benefits is more than £30,000, it is a requirement to take independent financial advice before going ahead with a transfer of a Defined Benefit pension (i.e. your main Scheme benefits) to a DC arrangement, so please ensure that you have received advice before making any decisions. As the enclosed booklet explains, Sony is making available paid-for advice through an independent financial adviser called WPSA.

If you have any questions about the figures in these statements, please contact the Sony pensions team at sonyukpension@willistowerswatson.com quoting your reference number. You can also request a call back.

Yours sincerely

The value of your AVCs may change depending on movements in your investments. Your final AVC value may be different and could go up or down, so this element of the illustration is not guaranteed.

The Trustee will give you the option of using your DC benefits to buy pension benefits in the Sony United Kingdom Pension Scheme. The amounts shown in the 'Your benefit options' section include the pension benefits that your DC benefits will buy in the Scheme as a default. The DC pension shown will increase in payment if you choose this option.

You can also choose to use your DC benefits to buy an annuity from an insurance company. You should consider getting independent financial advice to help you make the right decision when choosing your retirement options.

The retirement figures on the previous pages are based on the combined value of all DC benefits, however you are able to treat each policy separately. If you wish to take your DC benefits in any other combination to those shown, please let us know and we can provide you with an updated retirement statement.

MYSONYPENSION

Included in the DC benefits shown above is your Additional Voluntary Contribution (AVC) policy held with the Aviva Master Trust known as mySonyPension. The current estimated value of your mySonyPension AVC fund is £xxx. In addition to the DC benefits shown above, you also currently have a Defined Contribution (DC) policy held within the same arrangement. The current estimated value of your mySonyPension DC fund is £xxx.

As the AVC benefits held under the mySonyPension with Aviva were previously part of the Defined Benefit (DB) section of the Scheme, when you reach retirement, you may be able to switch back the full value of the fund to the DB section of the Scheme in order to maximise your tax-free cash or to buy a pension in the DB section of the Scheme. When you reach retirement you may also be able to switchback the value of your DC fund (which was previously part of the myPension (DC) section of the Scheme), in the same way and for the same purpose – but only if the value is less than £30,000. Please note the amounts shown in the 'Your benefit options' section do not include your mySonyPension DC fund, however if you require updated retirement figures including your mySonyPension DC fund (on the basis it is currently less than £30,000) please contact us. If the final value of your mySonyPension DC fund is greater than £30,000 at your retirement date, or by the time of your retirement the Scheme has insured benefits with an insurance company, then the switchback option will no longer be available.

You also have the flexibility to treat your AVC and DC funds as separate arrangements to the Sony UK Pension Scheme and can take your benefits directly with Aviva. Alternatively, you also have the option of transferring the value of these funds to another pension arrangement.

SPOUSE'S BENEFITS

If you elect to transfer your benefits out of the Scheme then no further benefits would be payable to your spouse on your death either before or after retirement.

If you stay in the Scheme, the spouse's pension at the date of your retirement is £xx a year, assuming that you take option 1a. If you take option 1b/c/d, the spouse's pension will be £xx. If you take option 2, the spouse's pension will be £xx a year. The spouse's pension increases between the date you retire and the date you die, in the same proportion as the pension increases that apply to your pension during that period. The spouse's pension in respect of your AVC benefits will depend on how you access your AVC fund.

The spouse's pension may be lower than the figure shown above if your spouse is more than 10 years younger than you.

If you die before you retire, the Trustee will pay a refund of contributions at their discretion.

If you die within five years of retiring, the Trustee will pay a lump sum, equal to the value of the unpaid pension instalments for this period.

For the Scheme's definition of 'spouse', please look in your Scheme booklet or contact Willis Towers Watson.

NOTES TO THE RETIREMENT QUOTATION

LIFETIME ALLOWANCE

The lifetime allowance is a limit on your pension set by the Government. There are tax advantages to being a member of a registered pension scheme, although pensions are taxed as earned income. The law restricts the total benefits you can receive before you have to pay tax.

When you retire, if your total pension benefits from all your pension arrangements (for example, occupational pensions, personal pensions and stakeholder plans), including this one, are valued at more than your current lifetime allowance, you will need to pay tax on your pension benefits.

There is more information about the tax law for pensions at <https://www.gov.uk/tax-on-your-private-pension/lifetime-allowance>

If the value of your pension benefits is more than your unused lifetime allowance, you will have to pay a tax recovery charge on the excess benefits.

The value of your full pension from the Sony United Kingdom Pension Scheme including your DC benefits for testing against your lifetime allowance is £xx. This is xx% of the standard lifetime allowance for the current tax year.

These amounts may change depending on the amount of the lump sum you take or if you have a form of fixed protection, enhanced lifetime allowance or enhanced protection. The current standard lifetime allowance is £1,073,100 for the 2020/2021 tax year.

RESTRICTED ANNUAL ALLOWANCE

If you decide to take your benefits now, a tax charge will apply if any future contributions to a Defined Contribution (DC) arrangement are made which exceed the restricted annual allowance of £4,000. In addition, any carry forward of unused allowance for a DC arrangement will no longer apply to the reduced annual allowance.

Your annual allowance for your Defined Benefits will be reduced by £4,000 and any carry forward will still apply.

GUARANTEED MINIMUM PENSION (GMP)

Whilst you were an active member of the Scheme, you were contracted out of SERPS/the State Second Pension, and you paid a lower rate of National Insurance contributions. As a result of this, you have built up a GMP in the Scheme which is broadly the same as the pension you would have built up in the State Second Pension. If, at 18 December 2020, you are under your GMP age, the Scheme pension built up before 6 April 1997 shown in 'Your benefit options' will include a GMP. If you are over GMP age, then your GMP will be shown separately in 'Your benefit options'. In line with the Pension Schemes Act 1993, the Scheme guarantees that the Scheme pension built up before 6 April 1997 will be at least the same as the GMP.

GMP EQUALISATION

If your benefit entitlements under the Scheme include a Guaranteed Minimum Pension (GMP) resulting from a period of employment after 16 May 1990 and before 6 April 1997 that was contracted out of the State Earnings-Related Pension Scheme, your pension for that period must be at least equal to that GMP.

GMPs are calculated in accordance with legislation. The way they are calculated is different for men and women. GMPs are payable from age 60 for women and from age 65 for men (and can be paid later in some circumstances, but not sooner). Differences in GMPs can result in differences in total pension because the GMP element and the rest of the pension are increased in different ways before and after they come into payment.

These differences in benefits for men and women earned after 16 May 1990 and before 6 April 1997 have recently been judged to be unlawful following the Lloyds Banking Group case where the judgment was delivered on 26 October 2018.

The Trustee is carefully considering what action it should take to equalise pension benefits and has already implemented a process for calculating equalised transfer values. Therefore, it is important for you and your financial adviser to be aware the pension amounts quoted in 'Your benefit options' are not equalised for GMPs but the transfer value is equalised for GMPs. The Trustee will, in due course, carry out an exercise to equalise members' pension amounts and therefore, regardless of whether you choose to retire or transfer out (or do nothing), you are not expected to be better or worse off as a result of the Trustee's approach to implementing GMP equalisation.

INCREASES TO YOUR SCHEME PENSION ONCE IT STARTS TO BE PAID

GMP built up before 6 April 1988	The Scheme will not pay any increases on this part of the pension.
GMP built up after 5 April 1988	Increased in line with Consumer Price Inflation or 3% a year, whichever is lower (paid from GMP age).
Scheme pension built up before 6 April 1997	Increased in line with Retail Price Inflation up to a maximum of 3% a year.
Scheme pension built up after 5 April 1997	Increased in line with Retail Price Inflation up to a maximum of 5% a year.
Scheme pension built up after 31 August 2000	Increased in line with Retail Price Inflation up to a maximum of 5%

NOTES TO THE TRANSFER STATEMENT

The cash equivalent is the value of the pension benefits you have built up in the Sony United Kingdom Pension Scheme which can be transferred to another pension plan.

If you want to take this guaranteed cash equivalent, you must fill in the relevant forms before the guarantee date shown on the statement. After that date, the guarantee ends.

The transfer value guarantee date is 18 December 2020.

If you have enhanced or fixed protection on any of your benefits, you may lose your protection if you transfer your benefits to another plan. You will have applied for and received a certificate from HM Revenue & Customs showing your enhanced or fixed protection.

If you think you have protected benefits, you should speak to a registered financial adviser before going ahead.

In some circumstances, we may need to request additional information from you and the Trustee of the receiving pension plan. This is likely to significantly delay payment of the transfer value.

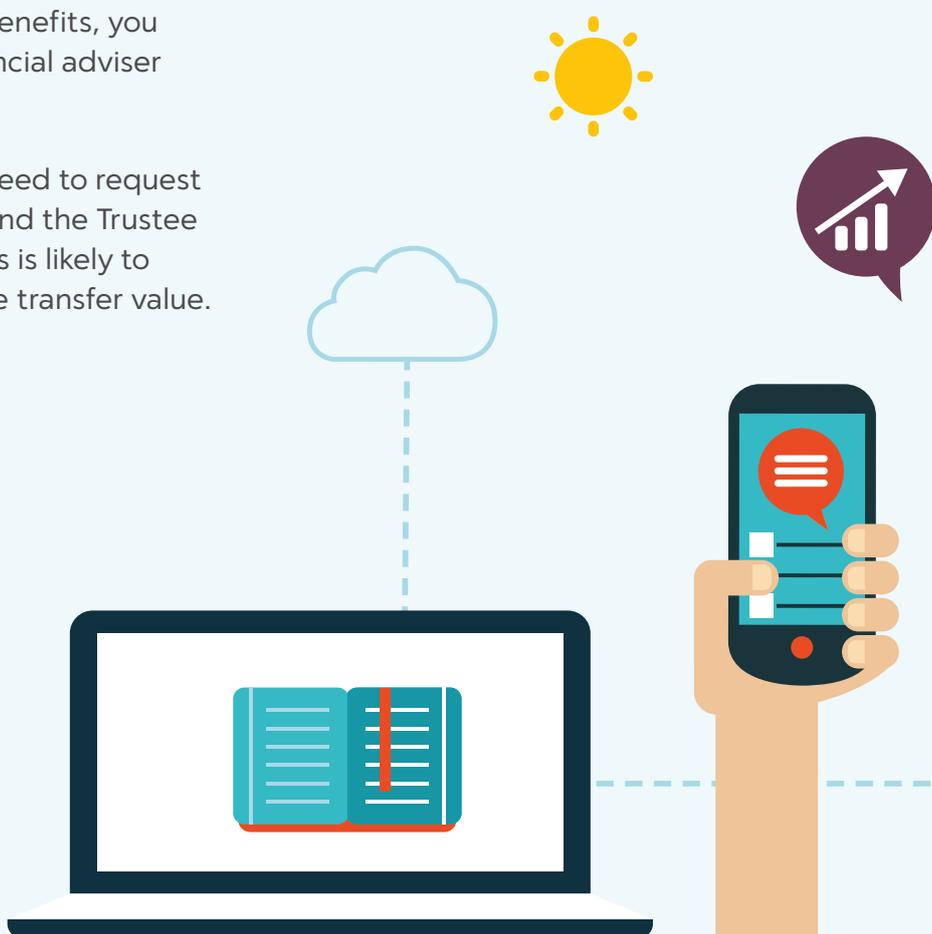

DISCRETIONARY BENEFITS

Discretionary benefits are not provided as a right under the Scheme but only if the Trustee or the Company choose to give them.

The cash equivalent quoted in the statement does not take into account the value of those discretionary benefits.

REDUCTION TO BENEFITS

The cash equivalent has not been reduced in any way and represents the full value of your benefit entitlement. In exceptional circumstances, it may be reduced before payment, but we would tell you about this. You would then have a further three months to decide whether to go ahead with the transfer to another pension plan.

PENSION PROTECTION FUND

Members of the Sony United Kingdom Pension Scheme benefit from the fact that it is an 'eligible scheme' for potential admission to the Pension Protection Fund. This ensures that a proportion of your benefits under the Scheme would be paid in the event that the Company becomes insolvent and there are not enough assets in the Scheme to pay the required level of benefits. The level of protection depends on your exact circumstances and further information is available from the Pension Protection Fund's website: www.ppf.co.uk
